Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 22 February 2002.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-2,6-8,10,15-16,18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hachiyama et al (US 2002/0039202 A1).

Regarding claim 1, which is representative of claims 7 and 15, an image capturing device, comprising: an electronic image sensor (Paragraph 0026); a processor communicating with said electronic image sensor; and a memory communicating with said processor and including a full-size image storage area storing a full-size image and a transfer image storage area storing a corresponding transfer image; wherein during an image capture said image capturing device captures and stores a full-size image in said full-size image storage area and also stores in said transfer image storage area a transfer image that is a smaller version of said full-size image (Paragraph 0025,0028).

Regarding claim 2, which is representative of claims 10 and 18, Hachiyama teaches said memory further comprising a user-settable transfer image enable version that controls whether a transfer image is created and saved (Paragraph 0060).

For claim 6, which is representative of claims 8 and 16, Hachiyama teaches memory further comprising: a decompression routine; and a sampling routine; wherein said image capturing device decompresses said full-size image and samples said full-size image in order to create said transfer image (Fig 1; Paragraph 0032).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 5,9,17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hachiyama in view of Kusaka (US 2002/0093575 A1).

Hachiyama discloses the device as discussed above.

Hachiyama does not disclose expressly wherein said transfer image storage area further comprises a transfer image filename storage.

Kusaka discloses wherein said transfer image storage further a transfer image filename storage (Paragraphs 0073-0095).

Hachiyama & Kusaka are combinable because they are from the same field of endeavor.

At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to combine Kusaka and Hachiyama.

The suggestion/motivation for doing so would have been to identify image data, as taught by Kusaka.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to combine Kusaka with Hachiyama to obtain the invention as specified in claims 5,9,17.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 3-4,11-14,19-22 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

6. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Examiner found neither prior art cited in its entirety, nor based on the prior art, found any motivation to combine any of the said prior art which teaches memory comprising a transmission bandwidth table including one or more transmission bandwidth entries and corresponding transfer image sized, wherein a transmission bandwidth input selects a corresponding transfer image size from said transmission bandwidth table and transmission mode table including one or more transmission mode entries and corresponding transfer image sizes, wherein a transmission mode input selects a corresponding transfer image size from said transmission mode table, respectively, as set forth in previously cited claims including all of the features recited therein.

Conclusion

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Heather D. Gibbs whose telephone number is 571-272-7404. The examiner can normally be reached on M-Thu 8AM-7PM.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, David K. Moore can be reached on 571-272-7437. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
